Targeted Mass Tuberculosis Screening in Global Settings: Experiences from China and Brazil

TRAC UGA-Emory Visiting Professor: Dr. Leo Martinez

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26 | 4-5 PM

HYBRID EVENT: WRIGHT HALL ROOM 150, ZOOM

HEALTH SCIENCES CAMPUS, 100 FOSTER ROAD, ATHENS, GA 30602

Dr. Leo Martinez is a global infectious disease epidemiologist who uses epidemiological and quantitative approaches to study vulnerable populations at high-risk of tuberculosis. He studies early-life risk factors for pediatric tuberculosis in high-burden settings, tuberculosis transmission dynamics in high-risk populations (e.g., prisoners, persons living with HIV or diabetes), and the relationship between tuberculosis and non-communicable diseases.

Dr. Martinez is currently an assistant professor at the Boston University. He received his PhD in Epidemiology at the University of Georgia's College of Public Health.
